

2022 Emerge PA Training Program Application FAQ's

What is the Emerge PA Training Program?

Emerge PA's training program is a 6-month, intensive training program for Democratic women who are planning to run for elected office. The Emerge PA training equips leaders with the resources, knowledge, connections, and a community of support necessary for a successful run as a candidate. We offer an in-depth training program that provides the best practices in fundraising, field, core campaign communications, endorsements, dealing with the media, and more. Participants will also have the opportunity to interact with political professionals and Emerge PA alumnae who have gone on to run for office. And once an Emerge Alumnae, our women become a part of a supportive network. By design, we select 25 women to participate in our program. We develop deeper relationships with our participants, which allows us to better assist our alumnae in choosing the right race at the right time.

Who is the Emerge PA training for?

Emerge PA is intentional about recruiting Democratic self-identified women from groups that have been historically underrepresented in politics, including Black women, non-Black women of color, Indigenous women, and LGBTQ+ women. We seek to recruit and train leaders who reflect the communities they serve and have the life experiences that allow them to reimagine and rebuild our institutions in the fight for a just and equitable world.

The Emerge PA training program is designed specifically for Democratic self-identified women who are planning to run for office over the next 2-5 years, as well as for women who are actively running for office in 2022. Emerge PA is partisan, we only train Democrats.

Our program is for women who have run for office before and won or lost, as well as for women who have not run for office yet. We train women who are running for all types of offices up and down the ballot including state senate, mayor, county councils, town councils, city councils, state representative, school board, county row offices, judges, and US Congress.

When will the 2022 Emerge PA training be held?

The 6-month long training program will take place one weekend a month, as well as one weeknight each month from March-August 2022. The weekend classes will be held on both Saturday and Sunday and the Thursday night class will be held from 7:00pm-9:00pm. The exact dates of the classes will be available in January 2022.

Will the Emerge PA Training Program be held virtually or in person?

As we continue to navigate through the pandemic, we know that things are changing every single day. Given the current circumstances related to COVID-19, Emerge PA currently plans to conduct our political training program virtually in 2022. However, if possible, we will hold the classes in person if the CDC and PA state guidelines allow. We hope to have more guidance on our ability to hold safe in person classes in January 2022.

What is the cost to participate in the Emerge PA Training Program?

Tuition for the six-month program is $750. There is an additional $250 obligation to be fundraised for a total write/raise obligation of $1,000. This money offsets but does not nearly cover the cost of Emerge Pennsylvania's out-of-pocket costs for providing the training sessions.

Financial need should not be a barrier to participating in our program. Emerge PA is dedicated to ensuring that the training program is accessible to all who are interested in participating — we are committed to working with each program member on an individual plan and tuition assistance to cover the tuition.

What is the timeline of the application process?

Applications are open until January 28th, 2022. Emerge Pennsylvania will review completed written applications and select finalists for interviews. Finalists will be invited to attend a virtual/zoom interview with a selection committee. From these interviews, the program members will be selected.

Virtual zoom interviews will take place during December 2021-January 2022.
